Bird Seed Types

Sunflower Seed	All forms of sunflower seed attract most birds. The striped generally has larger seeds. The black oil gives the birds more energy and a more consistent smaller seed and thinner shell. The course sunflower chips leave no hull residue.
Mixed Seed	As in past years, we are offering a customized SMRAS mix . The Economy mix may be preferred by those who want to cut down on the sunflower seed to reduce the amount of hulls under a feeder. The No Mess Mix will leave practically no residue because all hulls are removed. The 2009 seed mix percentages are:
SMRAS Custom Mix	15% striped sunflower 25% black oil sunflower 40% white millet 5% safflower 10% cracked corn 5% peanut hearts & kernels	Economy Mix	31% white millet 31% milo 30% cracked corn 8% black oil sunflower	No Mess Mix also called Hearty Delight	40% large sunflower hearts 25% hulled white millet 25% peanut kernels 2.5% peanut hearts 2.5% niger thistle 5% fine cracked corn
Thistle (Niger)	A favorite of goldfinches. A special feeder with small feeding ports or a fine meshed sock is needed.
Cracked Corn	Attractive for ground feeders like mourning doves, blue jays and sparrows, and squirrels.
Millet and Milo	Small round seeds particularly attractive to smaller birds.
Peanuts Parts	A high energy feed appealing to birds and squirrels. Kernels are peanut halves; hearts are peanut centers.
Safflower Seed	Noted for not being attractive to squirrels and starlings. Cardinals and chickadees like safflower.
Suet	Particularly attracts woodpeckers, but also nuthatches, titmice, and chickadees. For this year's sale, we are offering suet mixed with seed, similar to last year, but also pure suet.
