

Wednesday, September 23, 2020

7:00 pm via Zoom

A Bird's Eye View of Food – Part 1

What difference does our food production make for birds, other wildlife and their habitats? What difference does it make for our own health?

Join us for a thought-provoking discussion with local food producers: Stone Barns, Hemlock Hill Farm and Grow! Lincoln Park Community Garden in New Rochelle.

What choices can you make for better food and better habitat health?

This is part one of a three-part series that Saw Mill River Audubon is offering to explore food and environmental quality.

This first discussion is on food production; the second will be on food consumer choices and the third will be on post-consumption including composting and avoiding food waste.

For Zoom connection, register at www.sawmillriveraudubon.org/register/food

A Saw Mill River Audubon Event

Saw Mill River Audubon | www.sawmillriveraudubon.org

Connecting People and Nature Since 1953